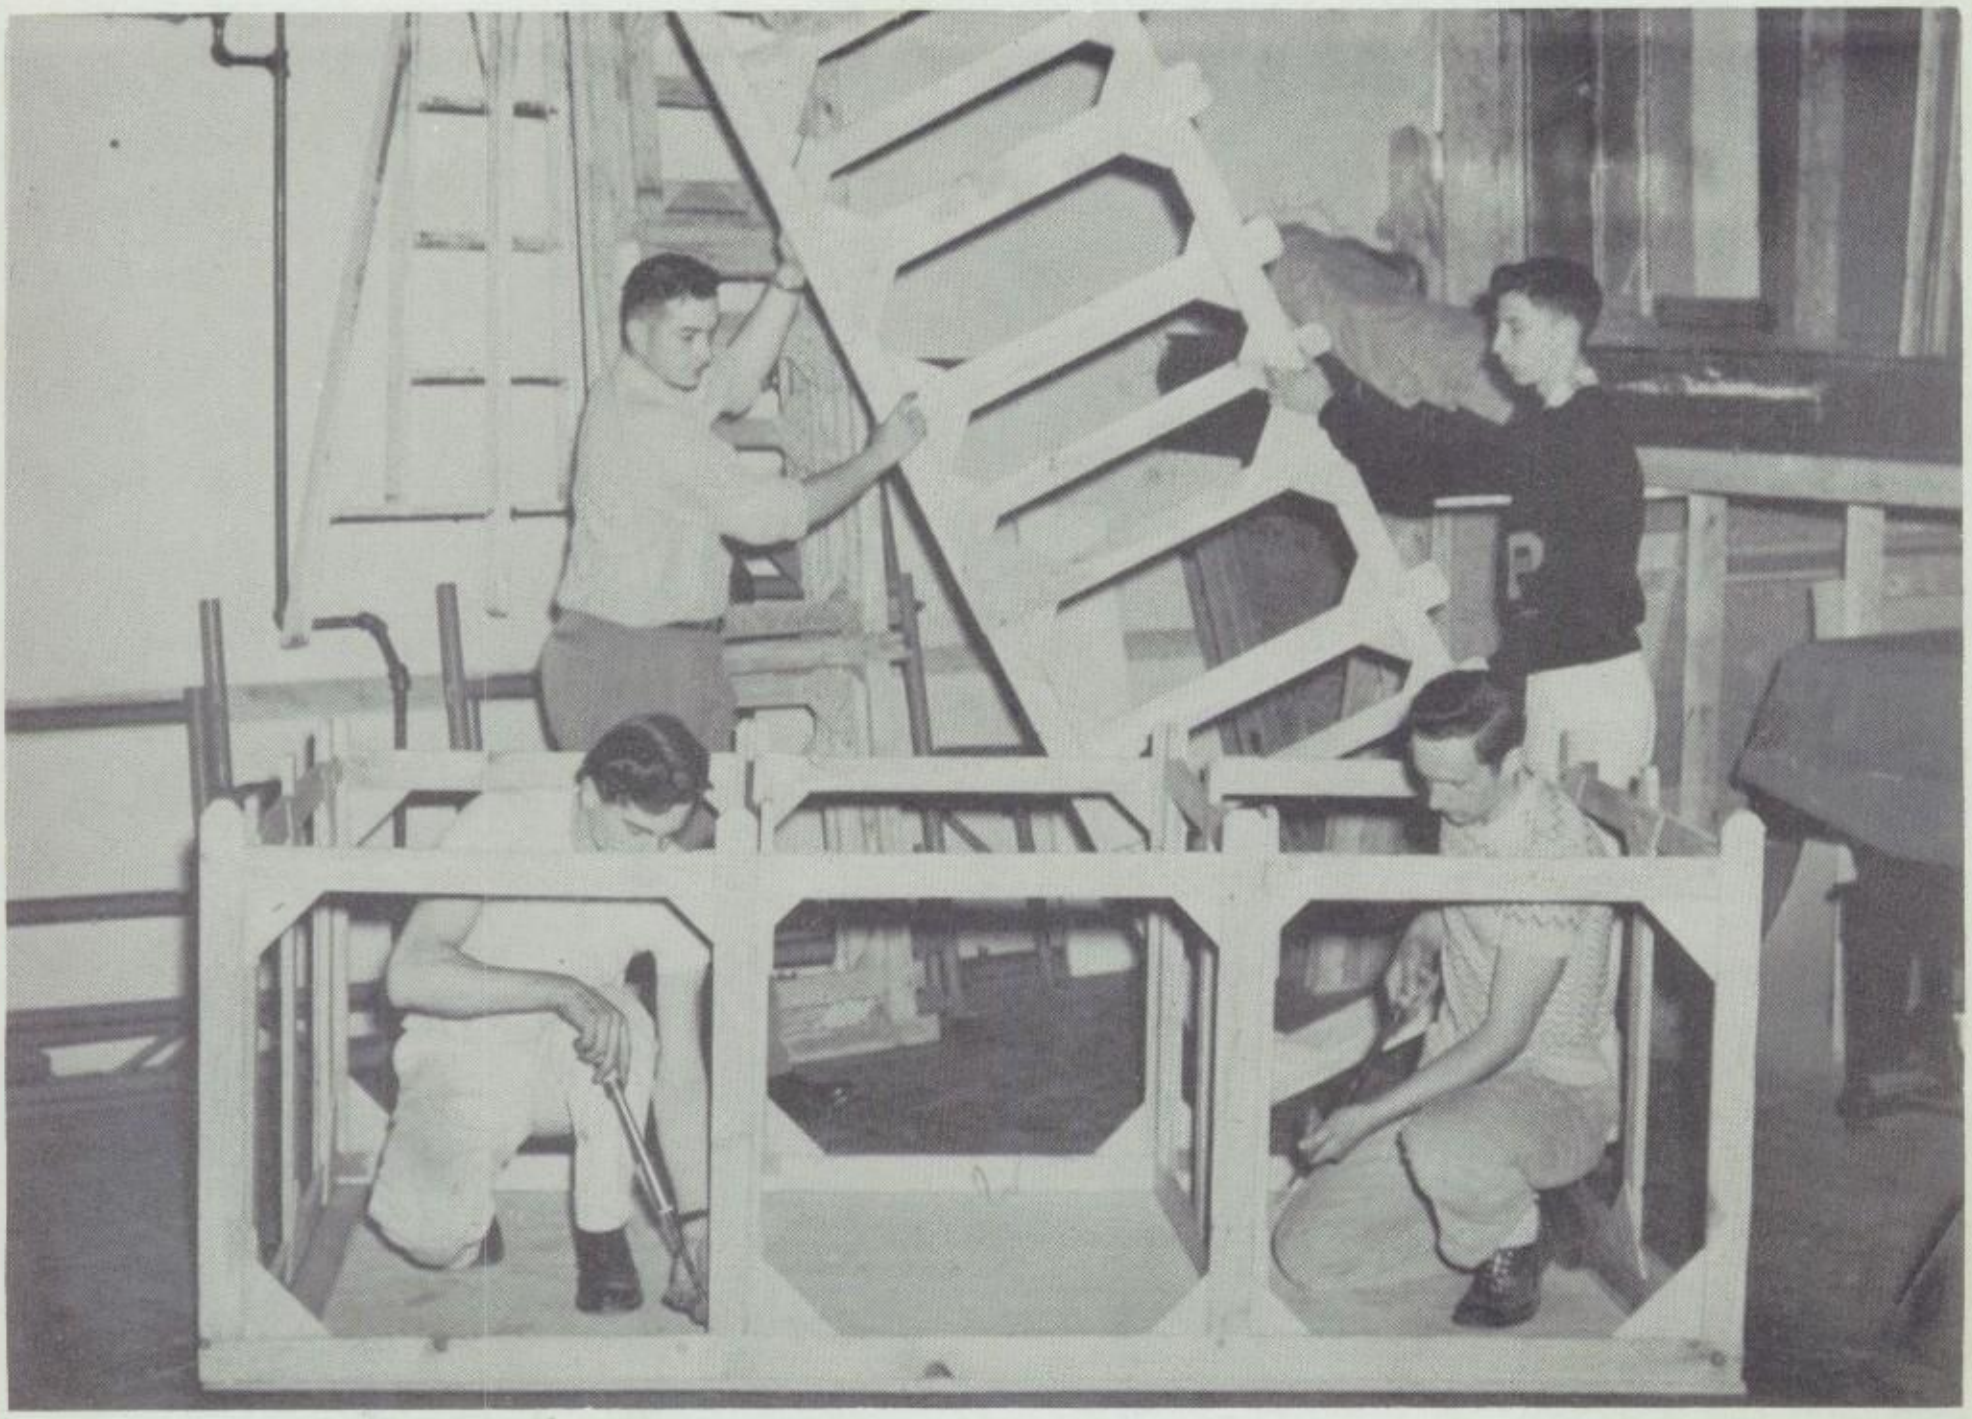
The entrance to Puyallup High School reminds students that "Labor Conquers All."

Our Hands, Potential

As the 1951 VIKING staff began forming plans for this yearbook, the idea of using hands as the theme seemed strikingly appropriate. For in life—school and otherwise—hands in their many activities play an extremely important and necessary role.

Hands, defined in the dictionary as grasping organs, may be thought of as transformers. They, along with our mouths, are the means by which our brains' thoughts and impulses are transformed into action. The results of these actions are in concrete, tangible form, to be seen, felt, or heard.

Here at Puyallup High School the uses of hands are numerous and prominent. With their hands our athletes accomplish a large portion of their feats of skill and prowess. Hands help us all with our education—writing our lessons, recording our thoughts, turning pages in books of knowledge, playing musical instruments, sewing, cooking, and handling the tools with which various articles of wood and metal are fashioned. No better example of hard working hands during the past year were those of our stage crew starting from scratch as they completely re-equipped the new stage.



The hands of stagecraft students have been busy since the earthquake and fire.

Creators of a Better World

Perhaps the most worthwhile use ot that terminal part ot the arm known as the hand is that of showing friendship. In our age of fast living and momentous, uncertain world situations, the simple act of grasping a fellow man's hand in friendship and good will may have a lasting effect in the lives of many.

Friendliness and the ability to get along with people can be the most important qualities we possess or develop as we go through school and into our lives in the world outside—a world which might be at peace if there were more displays of amiability and understanding.

Yes, hands are vital in our lives, and the uses to which we choose to put theme can create a superbly different and better world, free of human strife, and full of progress and happiness.

With this thought, read your 1951 VIKING.

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

As the members of the Class of 1951 take their diplomas and go forward into the world, memories of their triumphs, their fun, and their many experiences at Puyallup High School pass before them in sharp review. Many remember back to a September day in 1947 when the class first began to take shape with the election of Freshman officers. To them it seems only yesterday that President Joel Heimbigner, Vice President Harriet Cook, Secretary Nancy Turman, and Yell Leader Elaine Chipps were selected to lead the class as it pulled one of the upsets of 1947 with its victory in the season ticket drive. An even firmer footing was established with the second-place stunt, "Sumner's Funeral," and the Freshman Frolic, "Daydream."

Bubbling with enthusiasm, the '51-ers celebrated their advance to the second rung on the high school ladder in 1948 by capturing first place in the Stunt assembly with "Little Red Riding Hood" and taking second in the season ticket drive. Using a Mississippi atmosphere they presented their Sophomore Hop, "Showboat."

Tending to the sophomore executive duties were President Jeanne Peterson, Vice President Joel Heimbigner, Secretary Shirley Young, and Yell Leader Elaine Chipps.

High school life in its fullest began for the group in 1949-50, as they embarked upon their Junior year. Although they were not yet on top, many duties, responsibilities and privileges were theirs. They were finding their places in the various school organizations and clubs, and many of them began to be heard of in athletics, music, art, and other fields.

With Bob Crabb taking over the reigns, the class finished second in the season ticket drive and also received number two rating for its stunt, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs." All previous Junior Prom attendance records fell in late April when the juniors presented "Spring Rhapsody" in the Elks Temple, featuring the music of Jim Repp. Assisting President Crabb were Vice President Jimmy Young, Secretary Sharon Reitmeier, and Yell Leader Shirley Young.

Then came the big year—the 1950-51 year just past—when the whole class caught "Senior Fever," and achieved firsts in both the season ticket drive and in the Stunt. "Dangerous Dan McGrew" was the Stunt theme.

December 10 marked another Class of '51 triumph when the Senior Class Play, "Laura," played before a full house in the auditorium. Continuing with their successful ventures, the seniors, using a profusion of icicles, presented their Ball, "Winter Nocturne," on January 12 at Fruitland Grange. Jim Repp's band again furnished the rhythm.

Senior officers were President Bob Crabb, Vice President Jimmy Young, Secretary Shirley Bell, and Yell Leaders Shirley Young and Herbert Crabtree.

In every field of high school and extra-curricular life and activity, members of the Class of '51 were leaders and achieved enviable records. Many individuals received high honors for outstanding achievements, and brought honor to the class. Frank Lancaster and Ralph Wiese as All-State football players, Ken Erickson as orator and Youth Governor, Shirley Bell as Girls' Nation delegate, and Elaine Chipps as Daffodil Queen, were among these. However, all of the 222 members made their contributions.

And so it's good-bye to the members of the Class of '51. Not soon will they forget those research papers, the evenings at the library, the exchanging of pictures and cards, the times at the Rec, the formal dances, their favorite teachers, experiences in classes and in the halls. For these things are all part of life at Puyallup High School.

Their Hands Are Busy In Every Activity

Busy in every activity, the juniors followed through with their class yell, "We're here through and through, 1-9-5-2." The class, which will furnish leadership for the remainder of the students next year, had a big year in all activities, as well as in the classroom.

Showing their originality, the juniors titled their third-place stunt "Rumple-White-River-skin." Highlighting the year's events was the Junior Prom, which was held April 27 in the Elk's Temple. The success of the annual formal gave proof that the members of the class of '52 are ready to move in as seniors.

Their Hands Find More To Do

Living up to their yell of being the class that holds the key, 1-9-5-3, the sophomores unlocked the door to success by taking second in both the stunt and the season ticket drive this year. The fact that there were busy and capable hands in this group became more and more evident as the year progressed.

Led by Ray Barth, the class presented "Pearly Gates", as their annual stunt. This helped to make a good showing for their coming high school career.

The event of the year which locked the door on the year's main activities for the class was the Sophomore Hop.

Their Hands Try New Activities

Preparing themselves for the big step into the senior high door are the freshmen, who have been the "big shots" on their side of the building this year.

This was their first participation in the stunt assembly where they came out in fourth place with a scene from a court room. In the annual season ticket drive they took third place in competition with the three upper classes.

Climaxing the events of the year for the group was the freshman frolic, a dance which was held in the gymnasium May 27 and entitled "May Daze."

Indicative of the spirit of this class was their yell, "Clear the way, Open the door. Here comes the class of '54."

Their Hands Are Becoming More Skillful

Coming up on the south side of Puyallup High are the eighth graders, with their active hands preparing to take over the leadership of junior high next year.

Members of this class showed their school spirit by active participation in the season ticket drive at the beginning of the year. Several home rooms achieved perfect records in the sale of season tickets.

The eighth grade is divided into six J divisions, so quite a number of students have an opportunity for leadership by holding offices in their respective divisions.

Meeting and making new friends were the busy members of the seventh grade who joined the ranks of the Puyallup Junior-Senior high school this year.

Since this class was so large, the classrooms were overloaded at the beginning of the year, and a new division had to be created. This group, called the J-X, had one teacher for the entire day. They met in the cafeteria during first period and then moved to the Ag building for the remainder of the day. There were six other divisions of the seventh grade.

FROM THE SUPERINTENDENT

For every one of us these are troubled days. Students are concerned about world conditions. Teachers and parents are worried about the future. The world's greatest problem is war. Someone has said that future peace will be decided in the classrooms of youth. This is probably true. Primarily we should strive to teach how to get along with one another. When we have learned this as individuals, we will be in a position to get along together as nations. Peace is probably attainable in no other way.

As teachers we are grateful to have had the opportunity to work with you. We have learned many things from you. We hope our efforts have been of value to you. We earnestly desire that your success will surpass ours. Progress is made by such a plan.

The best of everything to you, especially our Seniors. Come back to see us often.

—PAUL B. HANAWALT.

MARION CATRON, Business Manager

A new position was created in the school system this year when Marion Catron was appointed business manager of the Puyallup Public Schools. Among his duties, Mr. Catron is buyer of all equipment for the system and is in charge of maintenance.

The group which plays a major role in seeing to it that Puyallup has the best in educational opportunities and facilities is the school board. This body is a vital cog in Puyallup's rise to prominence among Northwest school systems.

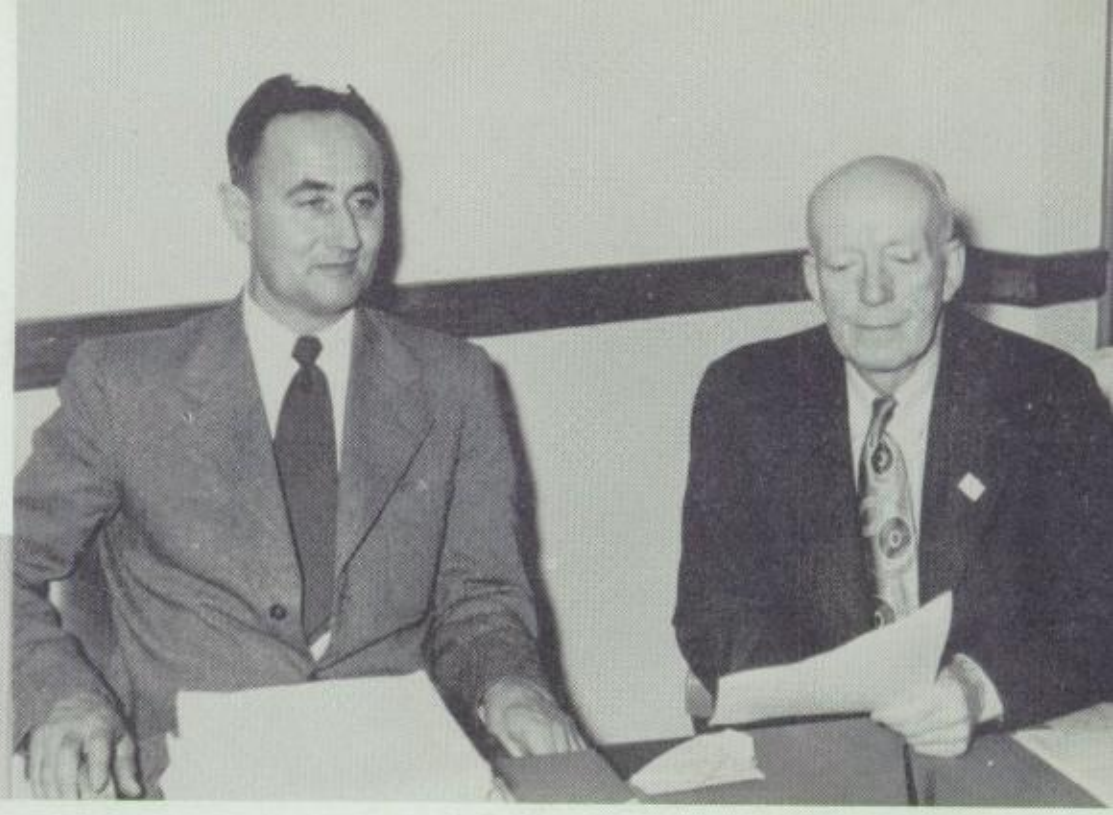
BOARD OF EDUCATION

Marion Catron, Business Manager; Cecil Lepley; Dr. Kenneth H. Sturdevant; Melvin B. Dennis; C. O. Gregory; Frank Manning, President; Paul B. Hanawalt, Superintendent.

Their Hands Are Important

RUTH OCHELTREE — PHYLLIS JONES

It takes many hands to make any business successful, and this fact especially holds true in school business. Six pairs of specially trained secretarial hands keep Puyallup school business running smoothly all year around. Owners of these hands are Mrs. Virginia Haynes, Miss Joan Moore, and Miss Bonnie Osborn, superintendent's office secretaries; Miss Ruth Ocheltree and Miss Phyllis Jones, high school office secretaries; and Miss Anna Mae Matta, guidance office secretary.



DON HARTUNG, Vice Principal — HARRY HANSEN, Principal

FROM THE PRINCIPAL

As one contemplates the world situation as of January 5, 1951, it doesn't look very hopeful, especially for the Seniors who are about to graduate. The U. S. is busy preparing with the other free peoples of the world for a struggle which could well decide whether Democracy or Communism shall survive. The members of the class, with thousands of other graduating seniors, will be the first to be called upon to defend with their lives if necessary this principle of free government.

Although the world situation looks black, it is not hopeless by any means. If we as a people are willing to sacrifice and to work as we have never done before we can win this struggle. We have had to overcome many obstacles since July 4, 1776. They have all been conquered, however. Strong courage and an abiding faith in the principles for which we stand and for the country which we love will ultimately triumph.

—HARRY HANSEN.

Teachers Join Hands In Working For Education

With the belief that hands joined in cooperative effort can accomplish more than individuals working singly, the teachers in Puyallup are joined in an organization called the Puyallup Education Association. They are also members of the Washington Education Association and the National Education Association. This year they received a special certificate of merit for having belonged to the state organization for 28 consecutive years.

A legislative year especially calls for cooperative effort on the part of teachers throughout the state as well as in local units. The legislative committee headed by J. A. Vanderpool was very active in Puyallup this year, keeping in touch with legislative action in Olympia and encouraging the teachers to back the program of the state department of education, which has the welfare of the children of Washington as its concern. Legislators from Pierce County were guests at a dinner sponsored by the board of directors of the P. E. A., where they were acquainted with local educational needs.

All was not work for the group, however, because they enjoyed the annual Christmas party held this year at the Fruitland Grange. It took some time for most of the teachers to discover that the Santa with the uncertain front was none other than Paul Simons, and that his helper was Wilma Johnson. Also p. .nned for entertainment were the spring dinner meeting and the annual picnic.

President of the group this year was Helen Alexander, with Walter Goplerud as vice president. Ed Randall served as treasurer and Palma Larson, as secretary. Continuing members on the board of directors were past presidents Kurt Bargmeyer, J. A. Vanderpool, and Dennis Gallagher.

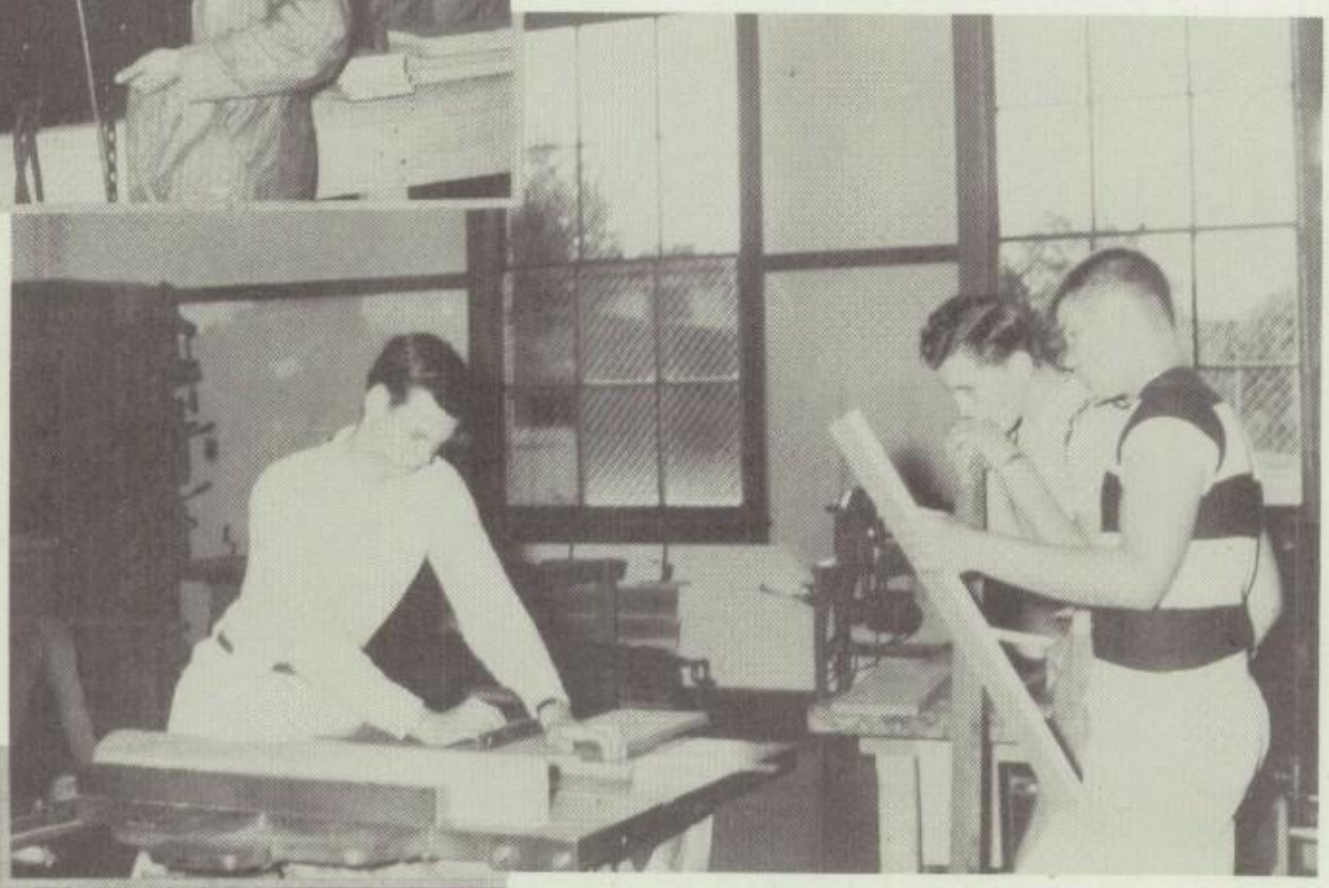
New Lights For Stage

Members of Mark Hipkins' stagecraft classes are shown installing new lighting apparatus on the high school stage. The stagecraft students' main tasks include designing sets and painting flats, as well as much stage maintenance work.

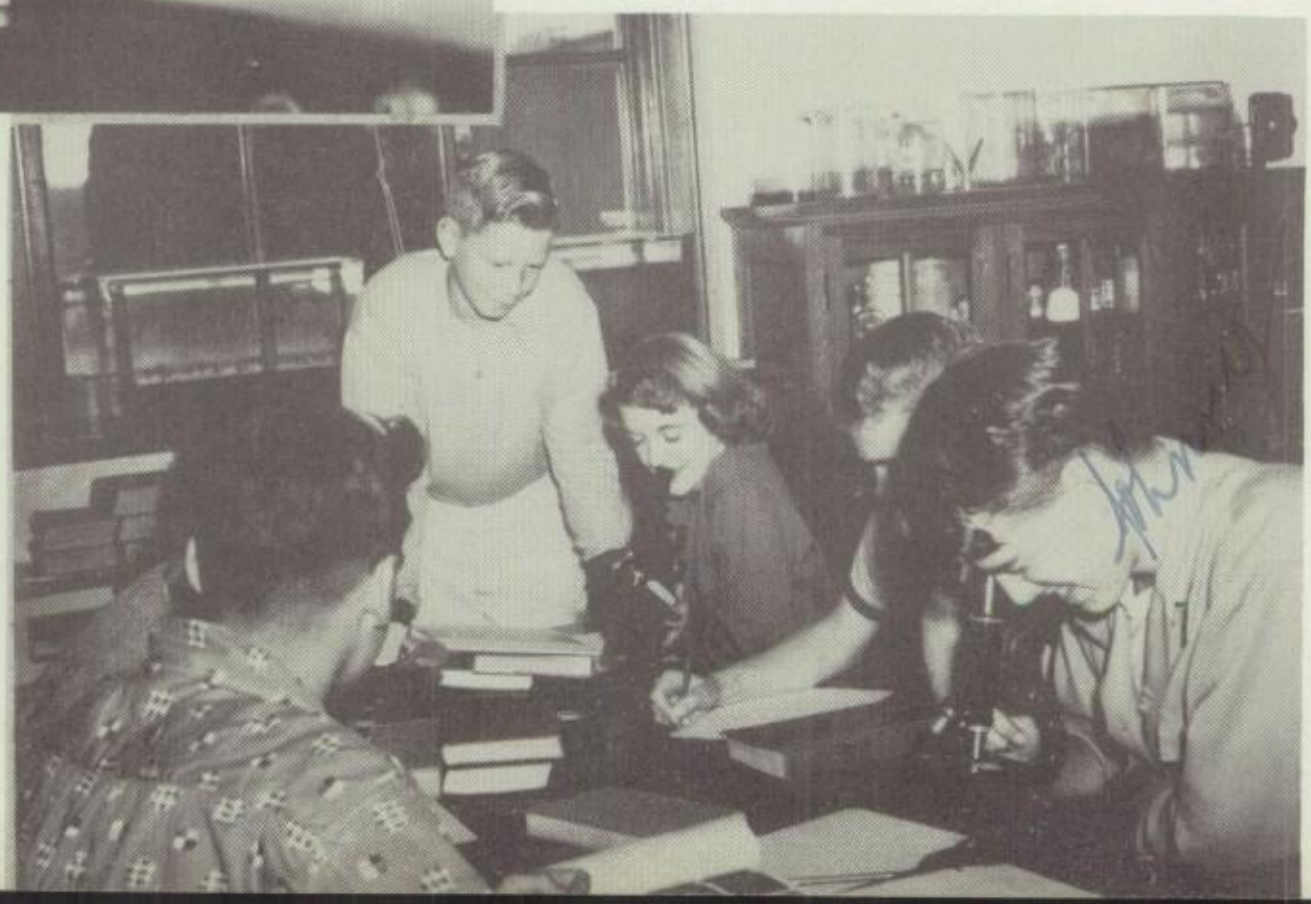


Careful, Now

Shop students are shown awaiting turns as a fellow carpenter uses the power saw. Manual training is a required course for all eighth graders, and an elective subject for boys in higher grades. Another phase of the course is metal-shop work.

Test-Tube Time

Karl Decker's chemistry students appear to be engrossed in performing their various experiments in this shot. Chemistry is offered to all sophomores, juniors, and seniors. Time is divided between class and laboratory work.

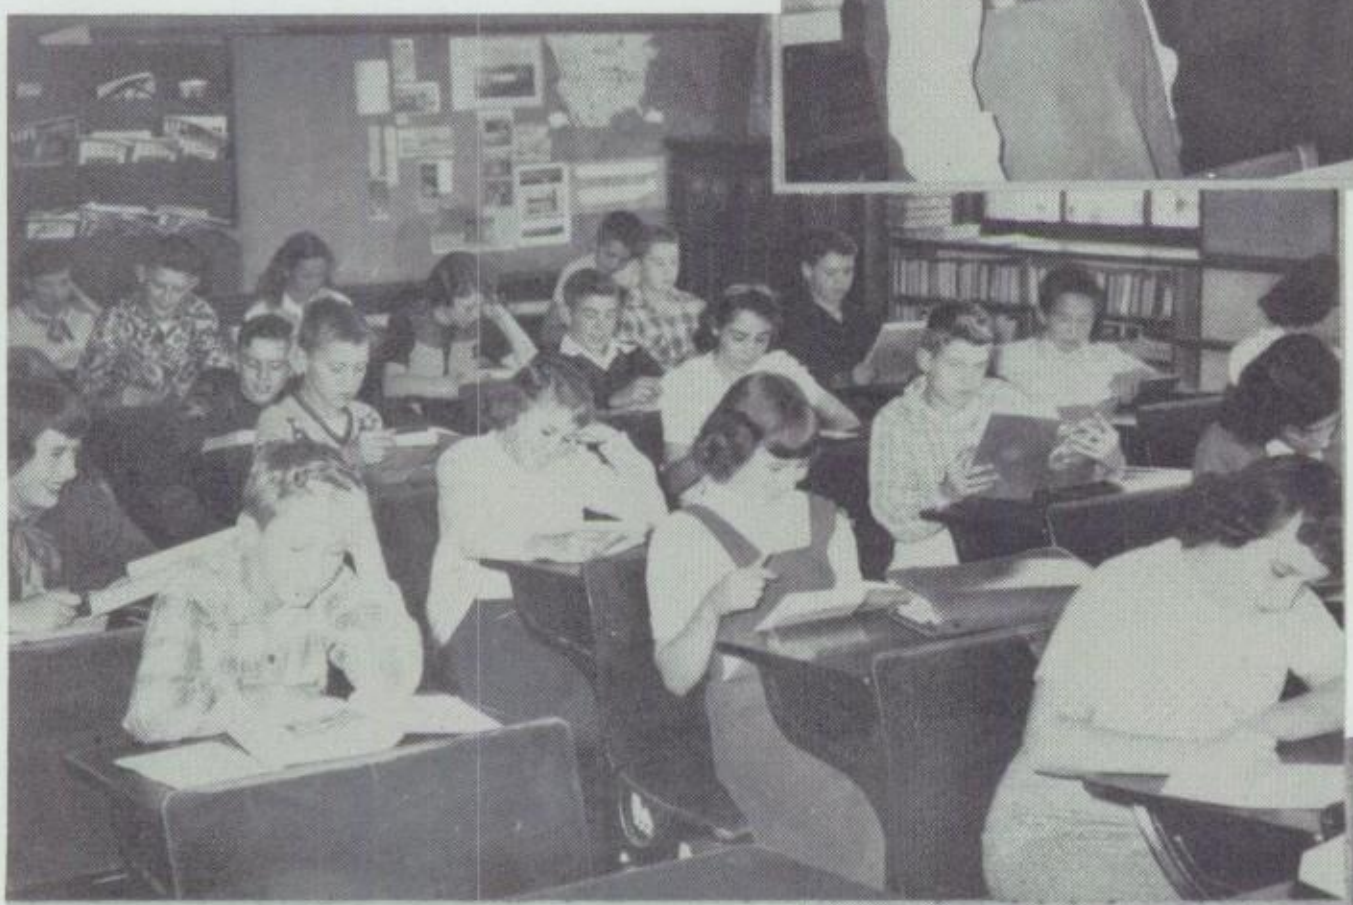


Scientific Minded

Biology students squint at specimens through microscopes. Biology is one of three sciences offered in Puyallup High School's curriculum. The course is divided into two semester courses—zoology and botany—so students acquire some knowledge about both animal and plant life.

Follow Your Guide

Girls are almost always interested in clothes, and they are given a chance to learn how to make their own in the clothing courses offered in both junior and senior high. Miss Patricia Tripple directs girls in the very important job of cutting out a dress.



Toward Better Citizens

Social science classes throughout junior and senior high school help to give students an understanding and knowledge which will make them better citizens of today's world. An eighth grade class taught by Mr. James Hatton is pictured at the left.

Future Rembrandts

Variety is evident in the curriculum offered to students in Puyallup. A seventh grade art class taught by Miss Elizabeth Bunn offers an opportunity to students to develop an interest in that field and to develop the skillful use of their hands.

You Do It Like This

Skill and accuracy are developed among the boys in junior high through mechanical drawing and shop courses. In the adjoining picture Mr. Mark Hipkins is explaining to some of his sixth period mechanical drawing students how that day's lesson should be done.

A familiar face to nearly every P. H. S. girl is that of Mrs. Rosemary Sherman, high school matron. Among her many services to the girls Mrs. Sherman helps in finding lost articles, assists those feeling ill, and acts as a mother away from home. Her helpfulness and cheery smile are long remembered by Puyallup's feminine element.

Each day at 11:30 and again at noon the halls of P. H. S. echo to the sound of many hurried footsteps as the cafeteria rush begins. And why are these many students in such a hurry? Why, they are anxious to get some food energy as represented in the meals of the Puyallup High School cafeteria staff. Cafeteria patrons receive an adequate lunch for a reasonable price, and also find the items at the snack bar much to their liking.

Each day students and teachers come to school and the rooms are warm, the halls and rooms are clean, and the wastebaskets are empty. The lawn is always cut and trimmed and the sidewalks are clean. And the men responsible for this maintenance work are Bill Sievers' high school custodians. It is these men who keep the boilers going, sweep up after plays and games, and keep things looking right. They "keep house" at P. H. S.

Mrs. Case's first period class enjoys a Hallowe'en party.

Like any democratic institution, Puyallup High School has its own representative group of rule-makers, the Board of Control. Elected as official representatives of their first period classes, P. H. S.'s Board of Control members attend regular meetings every other Tuesday morning before school, and transact business intended to better school conditions. Problems affecting every phase of student life are discussed and then taken back to home rooms for suggestions or turned over to committees, after which the board takes action.

Presiding over the 1950-51 Board of Control meetings was Student Body President Kenneth Erickson, assisted in his administrative duties by Vice President Nancy Turman and Secretary Harriet Cook. Automatic members of the group were Yell Leaders Leonard Sienkiewich, Elaine Chipps,Betty Newcomb, and Ruth Quinn. Advisers were Mr. Carl Sparks and Mr. Mark Whitman.

Aside from the regular handling of current school affairs, Board of Control highlights for the year included the operation of a suggestion box, procurement of the new organ, and the formation of a new group of school song-leaders, the song-pepsters.

In School Government

Junior high students in classes of Miss Fearn and Mr. Turman enjoy Christmas party in Room 307.

Operating in the same manner as its senior high counterpart, Puyallup Junior High's Board of Control is the governing body of the seventh, eighth, and ninth grades.

Composed of one representative from each junior high home room, this rule-making body concerns itself with finding solutions to student body problems. Each representative confers frequently with the students whom he represents, giving them opportunities to tell him of issues they wish discussed in Board of Control meetings. After determining his home room's views, the representative goes to the board meeting, introducing the items requested by his classmates, and voting according to their wishes on all business.

Charles Breitsprecher, junior high student body president, was presiding officer at Board of Control meetings. He was aided by Janet Turman, vice president; and Sharon Blanchard, secretary. Yell leaders Sharon Kremer, Betty Schakohl, and Phillip Curry were automatic board members. Mrs. Emeline Rentsch and Mr. Don Hartung were advisers for the group.

Viking Ladies And Knights Are Active

One of the highest honors to be obtained by any boy or girl while attending Puyallup High School is that of becoming a member of the Viking Knights or Viking Ladies. To become entitled to wear the blue sweaters with white letters, a student must be voted the honor by his fellow classmates.

Every year each class elects two girls and two boys from candidates selected by the V. K. and V. L. organizations. The membership in the former is 12 and in the latter is 14, because the Girls' Club president and girls' gym manager are automatic members.

Duties performed by the Viking Knights and Viking Ladies included ushering at games, plays, and concerts, and welcoming and showing guests around school. Among their special duties, the Viking Ladies clean and polish trophies, and the Knights raise and lower the flag.

V. L. officers were Shirley Young, president; Margaret Spear, vice president; and Patsy Shelby, secretary-treasurer. The adviser was Miss Barbara Jerbert.

V. K. officers were Jim Newton, president; Jimmy Young, vice president; Walt Ehnat, secretary; and Bob Crabb, treasurer. Mr. Don Hartung advised the group.

These Hands Are Responsible For The Viking

"Oh, it's raining again and we have to go out and get these ads today."

"Say, the copy for your section is due tomorrow."

You would have heard these or similar remarks coming from Room 304 nearly any sixth period this year as the 1951 Viking staff was performing the various jobs necessary in putting out a yearbook.

Co-editors Warren Miller and Jean Wilhelmsen headed the staff, which was under the advisership of Miss Palma Larson.

Marcia Norris, business manager, and Nadine Andresen handled the advertising and business duties. Sharon Reitmeier and Gloria Williams could have been seen contacting seniors about pictures and activities as part of their duties in writing the senior section. Ruth Cox had the faculty section, while Pat Kibler, Beverly Allen, and Janet Andrus had charge of school life snaps, organizations, and classes, respectively. Handling the dramatics section was Mary Lou Letourneau, and Venetta Kunschak took care of activities. Earlene Conley arranged girls' sports, and Bob Yates took over the boys' sports section when David Curry planned to enter the armed services.

Irving Berteig, Bill Goods, and Marvin Bush were staff photographers. Ted Linder, art editor, was in charge of drawing up the dummies, and Jim Norstrom produced the various cartoons under the guidance of Miss Gladys Sorenson.

Viking Vanguard Is Produced By These Students

Streamlining the paper and issuing an eight-page edition were just two of the major accomplishments of the Vanguard staff during the past year. Working to better last year's First Class Honor Rating, awarded by the National Scholastic Press Association, was another Vanguard goal.

For the third edition of the year, a complete revision was made in the style of the publication. Column lines were omitted and Spartan type face heads were substituted for the usual Bodoni type face heads. In keeping with the new streamlined style, all cut-off rules and dashes were done away with.

An eight-page paper, featuring the special school millage election, was put out during the second semester, with a 100 per cent increase in circulation. To finance the project, the staff members went out and doubled the ad income.

Instead of having a special crew of ad solicitors, as was true last year, the staff handled all the advertising.

Heading the Viking Vanguard staff were Warren Miller, editor, and Marcia Norris, business manager. Other members of the staff included Gloria Andersen and Gracia Brownrigg, news editors; Joan Schaffner and Laura Waring, feature editors; Dave Johnson, sports editor; Betty Geise, girls' sports; Virginia Jones, circulation manager; and Betty Hutchins, exchange manager. Assisting them were the "news-finders"—the reporters. Serving as adviser for the group was Mr. Dan Ranniger.

QUILL AND SCROLL

Front: Mr. Ranniger, Schaffner, Wilhelmsen, Reitmeier, Norris, Andresen. Back: Johnson, Miller, Andersen, Geise.

Journalistic Activity Is Their Specialty

Puyallup's chapter of Quill and Scroll, national honorary society for high school journalists, had nine members at the semester this year. Numerous other students became members at the close of the school year, too late to be mentioned in the Viking. Holdovers from last year's Quill and Scroll were Joan Schaffner, Gloria Anderson, Marcia Norris, and Warren Miller. Admission to the national organization requires outstanding work in journalism plus being in the upper third of one's class, scholastically. Recommendations are submitted by Mr. Ranniger and Miss Larson, Vanguard and Viking advisers, respectively.

During the past year, a more extensive program of junior high reporting has been carried out than has been the case for several years.

At the beginning of the year the Vanguard editorial staff selected a group of junior high students to act as "newshounds" on junior high side. These young journalists covered all junior high news and also wrote feature and sports articles. They held regular staff meetings every Tuesday after school, where they discussed and were taught the fundamentals of news writing and high school journalism.

All pictures which appeared in the Viking Vanguard and all except the Senior pictures in the Viking annual were taken and developed by Puyallup High School's student photographers, Irving Berteig, Bill Goods, and Marvin Bush. These boys own their own equipment and do all of their developing and printing independently.

To spread holiday cheer was the aim of the cabinet s they decorated the halls with boughs of fir at Christ- as time. They also designed a reindeer scene on the ulletin board in front of the study hall.

Two assemblies were put on through the sponsorship f the group. A talent assembly was given for the benefit of the Clover Park Girls' Club on an exchange basis. Mrs. Weaver of Seattle spoke before the local student body February 9 on the achievement of maturity. Clover Park was the destination of ten members of the cabinet as they attended the Puget Sound Girls' Club Conference in December.

The group ended the year with their annual Mothers' Tea and installation of officers in the spring. Outgoing officers were Jeanne Peterson, president; Shirley Young and Sharon Reitmeier, co-vice presidents; Norma Snider, secretary; and Margaret Spear, historian. Miss Gertrude Hansen acted as adviser.

Automatic membership in Junior High Girls' Club—that's what every girl entering junior high receives. She is a member of an active organization from her first day in school, and to help her and her fellow new students out in the new environment, the Junior High Girls' Club sponsors an after-school mixer to enable them to get acquainted.

This year the annual mixer was a sock dance using a big and little sister theme. Freshmen girls, who were the big sisters, were each assigned to a seventh grader. The big sisters showed their little sisters some of the P. H. S. customs, and introduced them to many other girls.

At Christmas time the Girls' Clubbers decorated the junior high halls with boughs and swags, and put a "Merry Christmas" greeting on the bulletin board. In February the club sponsored a junior high assembly, where Mrs. Weaver, a Seattle juvenile expert, gave a talk. This spring the girls presented their annual Mothers' Tea.

Making Junior High Girls' Club decisions was the cabinet, which was composed of a representative from each home room and the officers. Officers this year were: Nancy Bell, president; Shirley Raines, vice president; Lois Brownrigg, secretary; and Joyce Shaffer, yell leader. Advising the group was Mrs. Emeline Rentsch.

Helping Hands In The Libraries

The hands of the senior high librarians were constantly in motion this year. They shelved books, checked books in and out, took care of the desk, took roll in study hall, and directed students to shelves where they could find certain information or particular books.

Two girls are on duty each period of the day, making a total of twelve librarians. Girls wishing to become librarians volunteer each spring and those who are chosen have their schedules made out accordingly.

During the past year Bette Curtright and Joy Chesley have served as special assistants to Miss Florence Pfefferle, librarian. Their duties consisted of such tasks as processing books, taking care of pamphlets, checking magazine files, and putting magazines away.

The faculty book tea, an annual affair where teachers become acquainted with new books, was given last fall.

During the past year the junior high librarians have been very busy as they assisted Miss Jean Watson, the faculty member in charge of the junior high library, in the many duties connected with the running of this important place of study.

One of the most important jobs in any library is that of checking out books to students and then checking them in and getting them back on the shelves. Assistance in arranging the attractive displays which are always in evidence on the bulletin boards in the study hall-library was also given by these girls. Another job was that of answering the telephone.

These librarians are selected each spring by the eighth grade teachers on the basis of their courtesy and reliability. They must also have a C average in order to be eligible. After their selection, they are given a training period to acqaint them with the work.

Latineers

With President Joan Erickson wielding the gavel, Barbara Eng standing by as vice president, and David Hutchinson keeping the secretary's and treasurer's books, Puyallup High School's Latineer club carried out an eventful year's schedule.

The first happening of the year was the annual initiation of new members, which turned out to be one of the most thorough initiations P. H. S. has known. Next came a cake sale, which was quickly followed by Christmas caroling in the halls.

"It Happens Every Spring," a romantic comedy, was shown to the student body as another Latineer project. Big event of the year was the annual Roman Banquet, where all Latineers dressed as Romans and ate typical Roman food.

Ski Club

Memories of speedy trips down glistening snow, along with varied assortments of aching muscles belong to a large number of Puyallup High School students, members of the Ski Club.

This year's Ski Club was under Pierce County Y. M. C. A. sponsorship and operated on much the same basis as a Hi-Y club, with group members being covered by Y. M. C. A. insurance. The "Y" bus was used on all trips.

The group held periodic meetings during the skiing season, drawing up a constitution and passing by-laws. Ski Club officers were Mary Ann Griffin, president; Denny Elvins, vice president; Jeanne Peterson, secretary; and Walt Ehnat, treasurer.

Future Farmers Develop Skills

Farmers are known for their industriousness, and the record of 1950-51 achievements by Puyallup's Future Farmers of America show that the local Ag boys possess this quality.

The local F. F. A. chapter began the year with its usual Fair activities. Besides winning blue ribbons on their booth exhibit and weed mounts, the boys won numerous high awards on individual cattle, swine, and poultry exhibits.

LeRoy DeBolt, Puyallup sophomore, chalked up 3,852 out of a possible 4,000 points to win the poultry judging contest. After the Fair, the F. F. A.'ers entered the Carnation dairy judging contest at Chehalis. In early October the "Greenhand" initiation was held for all new vocational agriculture students.

The F. F. A. Parliamentary Procedure team, composed of Jim Calvert, Ray Barth, Jim Wilson, Calvin Capener, Richard Marcoe, and Leroy DeBolt, again carried on in the successful tradition of past years as they placed high in numerous contests, including victories in the West Central and district contests.

Among other highlights of the year's activities was the project of raising over $200.00 worth of food, which went to three needy families at Christmas time. The Future Farmers also conducted a paper drive in January.

Ivan Matlock served as chapter president and also was elected to the state treasurer's position. Other chapter officers were Bill Miller, vice president; Bill Christensen, secretary; Jim Calvert, reporter; Ken Lemmon, treasurer; and Rich Marcoe, sentinel. Co-advisers for all Future Farmer activities were Mr. Ralph Mowrer and Mr. Bert Badham.

Pros And Cons Of The Welfare State

"Resolved: That the Federal Government should adopt a substantial expansion of the welfare state." This state topic was thoroughly discussed from every viewpoint in Puyallup High School this year as the debate team engaged in verbal battles with other teams from the Puget Sound District of Debaters.

The Viking debaters opened the year with a victory in a three-team meet at Fife on November 8, defeating Fife and Stadium. They gained this place with three wins and one loss. The local speakers split with Clover Park and later with Lincoln, each team winning one and losing one.

Later in the year the Puyallup team participated in the College of Puget Sound debate tournament, held on March 8, 9, and 10.

Members of the Puyallup squad were Ken Erickson, David Hutchinson, Carole Stanley, Virginia Doran, Joy Gilmore, DeVonne Oestreich, Olga Salonisen, Pat Lambert, and Bernice Turner. Coaching the group was Mr. Paul Simons.

With the boys it's Future Farmers of America, and Puyallup High School's feminine seamstresses and cooks are the Future Homemakers of America. Organized here several years ago, the group has grown steadily.

Miss Helen Alexander's group of girls had as one of their main projects the selling of hot-dogs at the football games last fall. At Hallowe'en time the F. H. A.'ers had a party suitable to the occasion as they made doughnuts to drink with their cider.

The Future Homemakers put on an hour-long program at Madigan Hospital, using student entertainment, and serving cake and coffee to over 100 spectators. Also on their list of activities was sponsorship of the Junior Red Cross Drive, and attendance at the Southwest Regional Conference this spring.

Officers were Ann Robbins, president; Shirley Lane, vice president; Jane Grunder, secretary; and Donna Kremer, treasurer.

One of the important organizations on junior high side is the Junior High Future Homemakers of America Club. Advised by Miss Pat Tripple, this group had a pot-luck banquet, where Homemaker degree pins were given out. A representative from Centennial Flouring Mills presented a cookie demonstration at one of the meetings of the junior group. The club also received one of two chapter banners awarded at the Southwest Regional meeting in Vancouver.

Presiding at meetings was Pat Gallant, assisted by Vice President Janet Sawyer, Secretary Marie Dracobly, and Treasurer Joyce Shaffer.

When you walk into a local store several years from now and receive a high-powered sales-talk from an old schoolmate, you may remember that this super-salesperson was a retail selling student at P. H. S. in 1951.

Nineteen students joined Miss Hilda Skreen's retail selling class this year to learn the various techniques involved in selling, how to display a window, store policy, merchandise technique, personnel development, and other things pertaining to store business.

One of the class's most important projects was when it played luncheon host to the Puyallup Chamber of Commerce. After the meal, the class presented a short play, which showed the right and wrong ways to sell merchandise. The play was followed by a panel discussion pertaining to selling problems.

On March 19 and 20 the group attended the Retailer's Club state convention in Tacoma, where they won the State Cup for club responsibilities from among 30 clubs. Students from throughout the state met together to hear speakers, attend business meetings, and go on educational tours.

As part of their class work the Puyallup Retailers go on field trips. They visit various stores and talk to the managers about sales policy, store management, etc. All retail selling students attend school in the morning and work in the afternoon.

Each year Altrusa Club presents a $25.00 prize to the girl whom they judge to be the best saleswoman, and her name is engraved on the trophy.

Retail selling officers are Joan Apthorp, president; Arlene Bonn, vice president; Doreen Helle, secretary; and Patsy Shelby, treasurer.

Students Join In Christian Fellowship

Puyallup's three Hi-Y and four Tri Hi-Y clubs in Senior High proved to be project-minded again this year as they performed numerous tasks and services in carrying out their motto "to create, maintain, and extend throughout the home, school, and community high standards of Christian character."

Under the charter system each club was awarded a charter ranging from C to double-A, dependent upon the number of service project points earned during the year. The number of points each project received was decided upon by the charter committee, which evaluated the individual projects for the number of hours and money spent.

Clubs performed such projects as painting Viking Field flagpole, installing mirrors at the Rec, checking girls' coats each school day, distributing posters, and selling tickets to the March of Dimes Benefit Show.

Each group was represented by five representatives on the Hi-Y Council, where general problems were acted upon, and joint activities were planned. All clubs sent delegates to the Y. M. C. A.'s Model Legislature, held at Olympia in April.

Mr. Roy Richstad and Miss Phyllis Blaser, local Y. M. C. A. secretaries, supervise Y Club activities.

Ticket Sellers

"Two adults, please," "That will be a dollar-fifty—thank you." A conversation similar to this is an old story to the four members of Puyallup High School's ticket selling committee. These girls—Beverly Larson, Lorna Fogle, Annalee Corkish, and Mary Lou Letourneau are on duty selling tickets and counting money at every school function that requires paid admission. At football games, basketball games, track meets, concerts, and plays, the ticket sellers serve the public.

The committee members are selected by their supervisor, Mr. Robert Vollen, and receive no credit for their work.

Season Ticket Committee

"We won, by golly, we won," were the cries of the triumphant seniors as the results were announced in the season ticket drive assembly. After the shouting was over, it was the members of Miss Margaret Hughes' season ticket committee who handled all individual season ticket payments and records, and who kept the reluctant ones reminded that they owed the school money.

Each Thursday morning the committee members had the stamps, pads, and charts ready for all home room representatives. After the money was brought back, it was their duty to count, record, and deposit it.

Office Girls

Lending helping hands to the regular high school office secretaries were the office girls, high school students who gave up a study period to become assistant secretaries. These girls were on duty each period of the day, performing tasks such as answering the phone, running the school switchboard, recording attendance, and typing.

Girls working first, fourth, and sixth periods picked up attendance slips from each room, and first period girls distributed the daily bulletins.

Ruth Ocheltree, high school office secretary, stated, "These office girls are very efficient and were of great assistance in running the office."

Paul Karshner Memorial Museum

Items from the French "Merci" train, baskets and clothing used by the Indians, specimens of birds and insects, a copy of the Magna Carta, historic furniture, rock specimens from all over the world, collections of arrowheads.

This variety can be found in only one place in the school, and that is in the Paul Karshner Memorial Museum. Material for study for almost every class appears there, and teachers bring their students to observe and learn.

Mrs. Bessie Matthews is in charge of the museum, and she has been assisted this year by Calvin Shipman.

Viking Patrol

The Viking Patrol is a service organization in junior high which has a variety of duties and a limited membership. Among their responsibilities is that of assisting in keeping order in the halls. They also help enforce the bicycle rules and usher at junior high games. When the organization was formed several years ago they adopted maroon and gold sweaters as their official outfits.

This year's officers were Bill Bearse, captain; Jerry Salisbury, secretary-treasurer; Bill Yates, assistant captain; and Don Rice, adviser.

R. Marcoe, Tucci, Sovey, Lancaster, H. Marcoe, Sullivan, Daugherty, Nestegard, Duvall.

Smoking Committee

Student participation in the making of regulations affecting the school is evident in the activity of the smoking committee. This group makes and enforces the rules and regulations concerning smoking in the vicinity of the school. Students who violate the rules are called before the committee and required to sign a pledge of obedience.

Three boys from each class are selected by their classmates to serve as permanent members of this committee. This year's officers were: president, Harold Marcoe; vice-president, Frank Lancaster; secretary-treasurer, Richard Marcoe; with Bill Whitesel as adviser.

Publicity

Several weeks before the production of the plays and "Viking Varieties," a group of students who make up the publicity committee have begun their activity.

One of the first jobs is that of preparing and distributing handbills and bumper strips. Posters must be made and put up, and the programs must be planned and financed. Meanwhile stories appear in the local and Tacoma papers.

Serving as general chairman this year was Phyllis Ray, and Miss Elizabeth Buss and Miss Carol Hamilton served as advisers.

Properties

Properties are often just taken for granted by those who attend the stage attractions presented by the high school students. The securing of these is the job of the properties committee.

Membership in this group this year was restricted to students who were either majoring or minoring in dramatics. Through their work on one production they earned credit which might be applied to the earning of a drama pin. Advisers were Jim Hatton and Leonard Docherty.

Make-up Club

Although often forgotten when the time comes for handing out the compliments and credits on a P.H.S. stage production, the students who compose the make-up committee are vital cogs in the machinery of presenting the show.

Members of the committee are assigned certain actors to make up, and much time is devoted to figuring out a plan for making the face fit the character being portrayed.

Marion Rice served as committee chairman this year, with Miss Gertrude Hansen again in an advisory capacity.

Stage Crew

Accepting the challenge of starting from scratch after last year's fire, Puyallup High School's stage crew this year went to work and set up a completely new stage. All new equipment had to be installed and new flats built in time for the December presentation of "Laura."

Members of the crew built all stage sets and were on duty for each of the numerous events in the auditorium.

Jack Todd held the position of stage manager this year, with Mark Hipkins serving as adviser.

First Row: Klawitter, Hildreth, Rainey, Stickney, Jackson, Dechaux, Nameniuk. Second Row: Rankin, Peters, Hostetler, Whitman, Mr. Hipkins, Geisert, D. Todd, J. Todd.

Projection Crew

Playing an important part in modern education are the many instructional classroom movies. Operating these films throughout the school each day this year were the sixteen members of the projection crew.

After a movie is requested by a certain teacher, George Walter, visual and sound supervisor, assigns the movie-showing job to a crew member, who sets up the equipment and runs the film.

The projection crew also handled all public address systems in the school.

Ramona Watkins served as Mr. Walter's secretary.

Usherettes

Assisting the Viking Ladies in the frequent jobs of ushering for school events were the girls known as the Usherettes.

These girls are selected by the V.L.'s from the junior class and begin their work early in the year. Their traditional garb consists of dark blue sweaters and black skirts but they don formals for special concerts. Serving as their adviser was Miss Barbara Jerbert.

Senior Thespians Present "Laura"

First event in the revamped auditorium this year was the Class of '51's presentation of "Laura," a modern melodrama. Directed by Deane Healey, the production was presented on December 7 and 8.

A young girl, at first thought to be Laura Hunt, is murdered in the Hunt apartment in New York City. Mark McPherson, famous young detective assigned to the case, is startled when Laura, the supposed victim, appears on the scene explaining that the murdered woman had borrowed the apartment. After days of probing, McPherson discovers that Waldo Lydecker, sophisticated writer and Laura's long-time friend, murdered the girl. Opening the door and firing blindly, Lydecker thought he was killing Laura, whom he had long loved. Laura's refusal to accept a dinner date that night had caused his jealous mind to snap.

Audrey Rentsch played Laura; Calvin Davidson appeared as McPherson, the detective; Bud Wetzel portrayed Lydecker; Warren Miller was Shelby Carpenter, Laura's fiance; Mrs. Dorgan was played by Jane McCammon, with Earl Price cast as her hep-cat son, Danny; Shirley Bell was Bessie, the maid; and Leonard Sienkiewich played plainclothesman Olsen. DeVonne Oestreich was promptress.

"The Fighting Littles"

"Well, I'll be bob-dobbed if this isn't the bob-dobbedest family!" Mr. Little (Harold Marcoe) often exploded at his household. Everything hit him at once. His daughter Goody (Nancy Arthur) got in a spat with her steady, Ham Ellers (Jim Webster) and the attempted substitution of a prissy young business man (David Johnson) as her suitor fizzled.

Then young son Filmer (Boyd Brock) began going around in a puppy-love daze and Henriette (Carolyn Trana), a flirting maiden from the deep South, came for a hectic visit.

News of a wrecked family car started new chaos as the curtain rang down on "The Fighting Littles," the 1951 all-school play, presented March 8 and 9 in the auditorium under the directorship of Deane Healey.

The remainder of the cast included Mrs. Harpeddle, DeVonne Oestreich; Dicky, Ron Smith; Almatina, Shirley Young; Olita, Helen Heil; Mrs. Little, Jeanne Peterson; Antoinette, Beverly Knoll; Cucko, Mitzi Hohensinner; Screwball, Ruth Schakohl; and Miss Pologa, Shirley Bell.

Large Crowds Attend Musical Show

Minstrels, dancing girls, Seabees, nurses, and bathing beauties all shared the spotlight in the 1951 production of VIKING VARIETIES. Record crowds jammed the auditorium on April 12, 13, and 14 to watch this year's version of the annual spring musical production.

The show was composed of four principal acts — "The Minstrel Show," "Manhattan in Blue," "South Pacific," and "On the Boardwalk." Other smaller acts given in front of the curtain were "Shortnin' Bread," "The Subway," and specialty numbers by Elaine Chipps.

The Boys' Glee Club and the Nonettes were featured in the "Minstrel Show." The black-face minstrels, performing in front of a huge watermelon, told jokes and sang southern melodies, occasionally harmonizing with the girls.

In the "Manhattan in Blue" scene actions and songs took the place of dialogue in describing various New York moods. Featured in the act, supposedly taking place in Radio City Music Hall, were the P.H.S.-model Rockettes, precision dancers, and the Girls' Tumbling Team. Nancy Turman and Harriet Cook sang solos and Gail Beauchamp played Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue."

"South Pacific," a resume of the famous Broadway show, featured the Nonettes and Boys' Glee Club as nurses and Seabees stationed on a tropical isle. Soloists were Cal Davidson, Joanne Tucker, Ruth Cox, Elaine Snode, Earlene Hill, and Joyce Hanson.

Featuring the entire cast plus a large group of bathing beauties and Can-Can dancers, the finale "On the Boardwalk," typified a 1912 beach scene.

Student committees wrote the scripts, and Harriet Cook, Nancy Turman, and Bud Wetzel served as assistants to Director Louis Owens in presenting the yearly extravaganza.

Voices Joined in Choral Melody

This year, as in past years, the Girls' Nonette and Boys' Sextet were two of the busiest groups in school. Constantly in demand as entertainers at various events, meetings, and conventions, the groups averaged two or three performances a week.

The members of the two groups, selected by Director Louis Owens, also took many of the leading roles in VIKING VARIETIES.

At the solo and ensemble contest in Bremerton, both groups attained superior ratings. Soloists receiving superior were Calvin Davidson, Bob Logan, Harriet Cook, and Elaine Snode. Joanne Tucker received an excellent and Earlene Hill, a good.

Composed of the 60 best voices in Louis Owens' second and fifth period chorus classes, the 1950-51 Senior High A Capella Choir performed at numerous assemblies, civic organizations, and concerts.

Included in the year's appearances were the Christmas programs, the Easter assembly, the Easter Sunrise service, and the "Campus Radio Theater" and "Voices of the Northwest" shows. The choir also competed in the vocal contest at Enumclaw.

Gail Beauchamp, Ruth Neeley, and Bea Hansen were accompanists for the choir.

A small choir, composed of certain members of the larger group, appeared on programs at numerous civic and social meetings.

Boys and Girls Enjoy Music

"Singing for enjoyment" were the 29 boys and 45 girls who made up the two senior high glee clubs this year.

The Boys' Glee Club met every Tuesday and Thursday morning to harmonize on old favorites, to learn new tunes, and to rehearse for their performances in VIKING VARIETIES. Under the direction of Louis Owens, the group sang such tunes as "There is Nothin' Like a Dame," and "Joshua Fit De Battle of Jericho." Nancy Turman accompanied the group.

Performances in VIKING VARIETIES, the Spring Concert, and the Christmas programs highlighted Girls' Glee Club activity. Meeting every Monday and Wednesday after school, the girls' repertoire included such VIKING VARIETIES favorites as "Daisy, Daisy" and "By the Sea." This group also was led by Louis Owens, and the accompanist was Annette Emery.

They Also Like to Sing

Each year P.H.S. loses many outstanding vocalists through graduation, but new voices keep popping up to replace them. Sources of this vocal musical talent which comes from junior high each year are the two junior high groups, the Chorus and Girls' Glee Club.

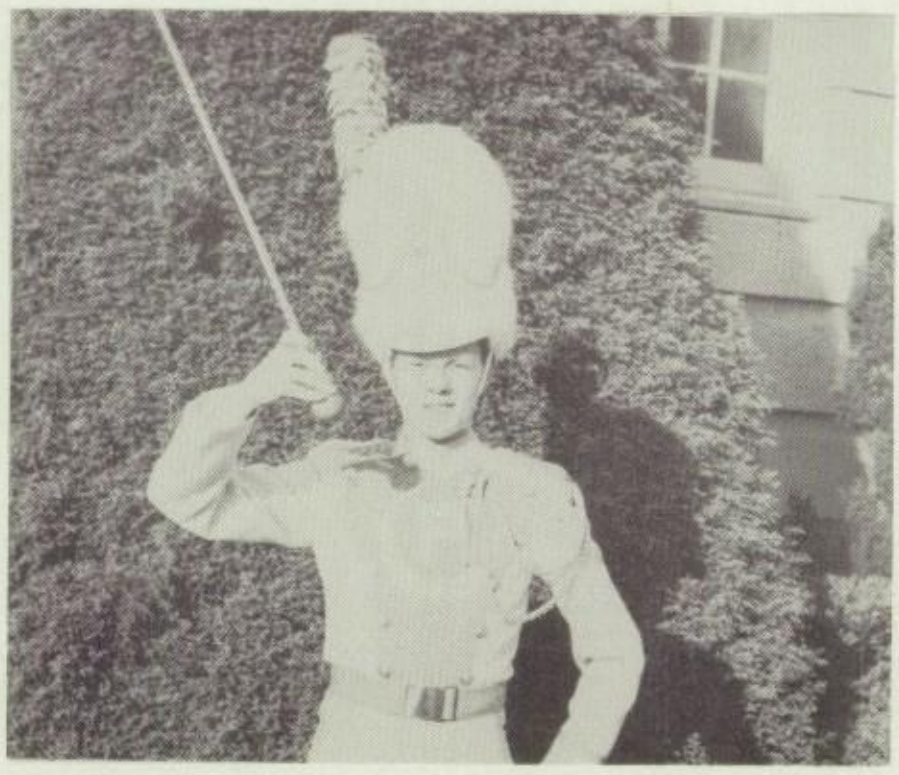
Under the direction of Louis Owens, the groups learn the fundamentals of vocal music and put in the practice which is necessary to proficiency in any field.

The Junior High Girls' Glee Club, a group of 70 members, practiced each Wednesday and Friday morning at 8 o'clock. Composed of all interested junior high girls, the Glee Club appeared in the Christmas programs and the Spring Concert.

The Junior High Chorus, an 83-voice unit which met as a regular class each sixth period, appeared in the Spring Concert. In addition to their daily singing, the choristers studied sight-reading and other important phases of music.

Harmony From

MAJORETTES
Iverson, Andresen, Sherman



Harold Hatch, Drum Major

"The drums go bang, the cymbals clang, the borns they blaze away" was the situation each fourth period this year as the senior high band prepared for its numerous engagements. The 65-piece outfit, led by Director Ed Krenz, opened the year by traveling to the University of Washington to combine with five other northwest high school bands in presenting a show between halves of the Husky-Kansas State Game.

Following their performances at all home football games, plus a trip to play and march at the Renton game, the bandsters presented a mid-winter concert in December.

The eighth annual Swing Concert in January proved to be one of the best-liked in years, as the band presented a program of popular, rhythm-packed tunes, with Harpist Lloyd Lindroth of Seattle being featured on the show as guest artist. In the spring the horn-tooters played a concert at the Daffodil Coronation ceremonies, and also marched in the parade.

Participation in the Western Washington band contest in Tacoma and the presentation of the annual Spring Concert concluded the year's highlights.

Three band members — Joan Richards, Barbara Eng, and Warren Miller — were selected from a large field of applicants to play in the 180-piece All-Northwest high school band at the Northwest division of the Music Educators' National Conference, held in Missoula, Montana, March 28-31.

The Music Stand

Rehearsal time for the string section of the orchestra.

Edward Krenz, Director of Instrumental Music
Breese Bell, Junior High Instrumental Music

Sometimes, on sunshiny spring days when classroom windows were flung open, the melodic blending of violins with cellos, bass fiddles, and wind instruments could be heard as the P.H.S. orchestra held sixth period rehearsals. Under the baton of Ed Krenz, the group was composed of the regular string players plus bass and woodwind players from the band.

Opening the year's public performances for the orchestra was the mid-winter concert in December. Following this, the group appeared in the Christmas program, playing "White Christmas" and accompanying during the community sing.

Swing Concert activity was a large item on the orchestra members' agenda for the year as they presented half of the program, featuring such popular tunes as "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes," "Sleigh Ride," "Jazz Pizzacato," and "Perpetual Motion."

Springtime brought the Western Washington orchestra contest in Tacoma, and participation in the annual Spring Concert. The final performance of the year was playing for Baccalaureate exercises.

Solo and ensemble contest participants receiving superior ratings were George Jones, baritone horn; Winston Vitous, clarinet; Gail Beauchamp, piano; the Brass Sextet, the French Horn Quintet, and the B-Flat Clarinet Quartet. In the excellent category were Nadine Andresen, baton twirling, and Carole Stanley and Carl Troupe, piano. Numerous band and orchestra members performed in the festival band and orchestra at the contest in Bremerton.

Junior High Musicians

Preparing for the time when they would be found ready to become senior high band and orchestra personnel, the members of Breese Bell's junior high band and orchestra put in an active year.

First job on the band's agenda was playing for junior high pep assemblies and football games, with similar duties prevailing during basketball season. Other highlights were marching in the Daffodil Parade, competing in the Western Washington band contest, and playing in the Spring Concert.

Composed mainly of seventh and eighth grade string players, aided by certain brass and woodwind performers, the junior high orchestra presented a contest, and performed in the Spring Concert.

In the junior division of the solo and ensemble contest, superior ratings went to Bill Tinius, baritone horn; Pat Schwartze, piano; and Irma Doyle, baton twirling. Sharon Kremer, baton twirling, and Marie Sunnen, viola, received excellents. Cornetist Charles Breitsprecher, the Junior High String Quintet, Junior High String Quartet, and the Junior High Clarinet Quartet attained good ratings.

Continuing in the winning tradition of Puyallup football teams, the 1950 Viking gridders fought their way to a second place finish in the Puget Sound Conference this year. Although they missed taking the championship, as the 1948 and 1949 teams did, the Norsemen lost only one game and pulled the upset of the year in league action when they whipped the powerful White River Hornets, who later took the championship.

Coach Carl Sparks gridders opened the season by battling to a 7-7 deadlock with Bremerton's Wildcats, and under the leadership of Captain Dave Johnson they piled up a 5 won, 3 tied, and 1 lost record for the season.

Joe Purdue received the inspiration award and Jerry Sullivan was selected as next year's captain.

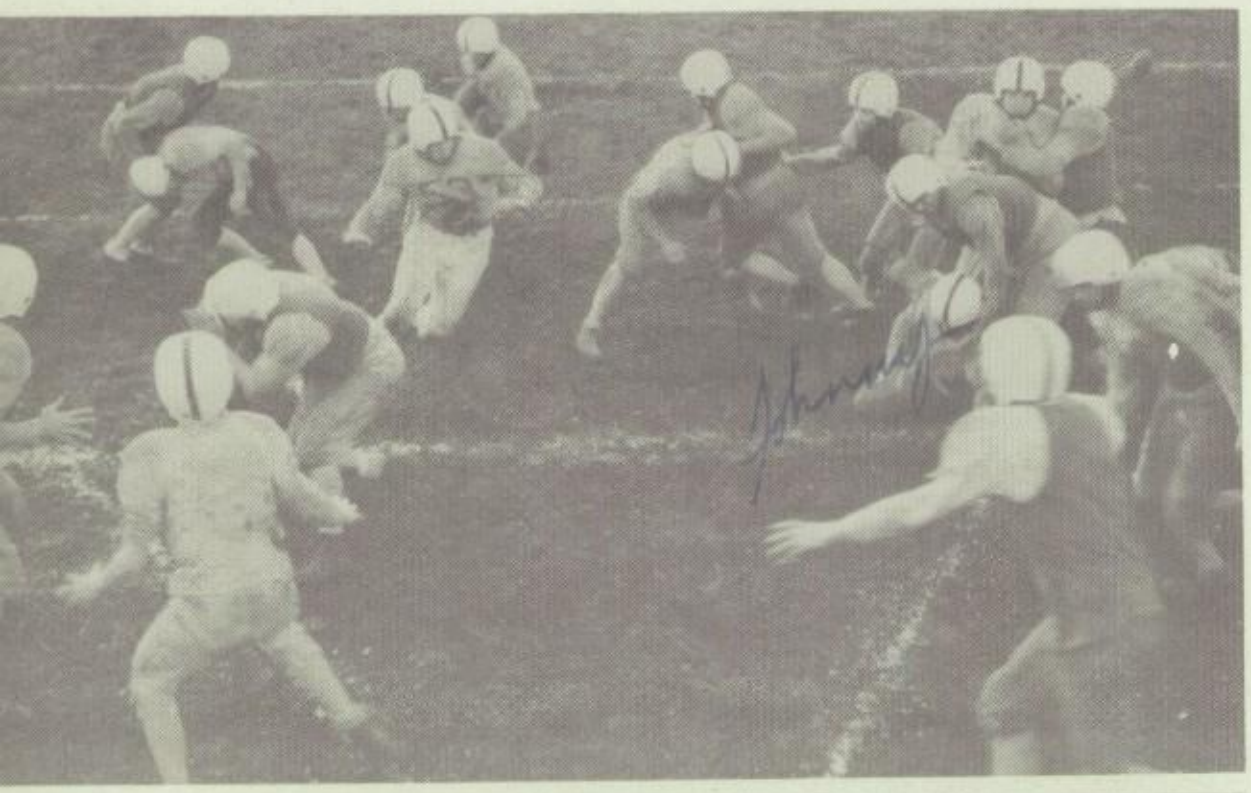
B Squad Members Understudy Varsity



Building ground for Puyallup High School's perennially successful football teams is the B Squad. Many sophomores and juniors who are future varsity material serve their grid apprenticeships playing on the B Squad, learning and practicing the fundamentals and plays which will enable them to become winning Vikings the next year. Playing a full-season schedule, this year's B gridders compiled a 4 won, 3 lost, and 2 tied record.

The roster for the season showed 57 members, a definite increase over the usual number of boys turning out.

All boys turning out for the fall sport who do not make the varsity are carried on the B Squad roster and are coached by Carl Wasmund and William Whitesel.

Bob Yates and Clayton Sparks served as managers.

Junior High On The Gridiron

Although the Baby Viking footballers won only two contests last fall, the fact that their four losses were all lost by close scores coupled with the knowledge that they were learning the game and gaining that vital and necessary asset — experience — made the season very worthwhile. Also adding lustre to the season was the fact the two victories were over the arch-rival Sumner Bobcats. The economy-size Norsemen dropped two close contests each to White River and Clover Park.

Al Jacobs, Art Larson, and Dean Nicholson coached the junior high gridders, with Nicholson taking over the assistant coaching job when Larson was called into Naval service.

Thirty-one boys, including Captain Eugene Shaw, received letters.

Handling the junior high managers' duties were Jerry Salisbury and Tommy Watkin.

We Want a Basket!

Picked by the experts to finish deep in the league standings this year, Puyallup's Viking basketballers upset all early season predictions as they fought their way into second place. Under the fine coaching of Dean Nicholson, the team improved each game, and finished the year with a 12 won, 4 lost record, a mark bettered only by the 16 straight wins of the Highline Pirates, who eventually won the state class A championship.

Frank Lancaster, Viking guard, received the highest number of votes when the coaches selected their all-conference teams. Mel Piatote and Jerry Sullivan received second team and honorable mention berths, respectively. Lancaster and Piatote were named co-captains and Don Kitts inspiration winner at the season's end.

Playing their last basketball for Puyallup were Frank Lancaster, Mel Piatote, Fred Poe, Gene Flansburg, Don Kitts, Joe Mahaffie, Ken Erickson, and Don Larson.

Junior Vikings Show Promise in Basketball

Showing marked improvement as the season progressed, Puyallup Junior High's Baby Vikings broke even in league play, winning 3 and losing 3. Coach Jim Turman's cagers, with only three returning lettermen, opened this season playing a flock of practice games, and, by the time league action began, the coaching and experience had improved the team considerably.

The Baby Viks beat White River, 18-15, and whipped Sumner twice, 37-24 and 52-28. They lost two close contests to Clover Park, 28-27, and 39-37, and one to White River, 38-34.

Skill With Bat and Ball

Although not in championship contention as the VIKING went to press, the 1951 Viking baseballers were attempting to approach their 1950 mark of finishing in second place in the Puget Sound Conference. As of May 10, Coach Carl Wasmund's Norse had compiled a 5 won, 6 lost record for the season, with a 2 won, 3 lost mark in league play.

Seniors on the squad were Captain Max Braman, Mel Piatote, and Frank Lancaster, three-year veterans; two-stripers Don Kitts, Ken Erickson, Jack Pederson, Jimmy Young, and Jim Newton; and Gene Weeks, Fred Poe, and Bob Lasham, one-letter men. Senior managers were Bob Majors and Bill Hendricks.

Men of Track and Field

Puyallup Viking tracksters captured third place in the 1951 Puget Sound Conference meet on May 11 with 16 3/4 points. Galen Nusbaum captured the pole-vault event, Walt Ehnat and Joe Mahaffie placed second in the high-jump and shot-put, respectively, Royal Drath finished third in the 220-yard dash, Dick Sanders was fourth in the high hurdles, and Charles Rose, fourth in the 440. Nusbaum, Ehnat, and Mahaffie qualified for the West Central District meet.

During the season, Coach Carl Sparks' cinderdusters won three meets and placed second in three others, including the South-end qualifying meet.

Agile Boys On the Cinder Surface

The Baby Viking track team captured second place in the Puget Sound Conference on May 11 at the Conference meet at Renton, scoring 15½ points. The shuttle-hurdle team of Bill Bearse, Bob Corey, Alan Murry, and Eugene Shaw took first; seconds went to pole-vaulter Elmo Fronsman, high-jumper Eugene Shaw, and the 880-yard relay team; and the 440-yard relay team took third.

Al Jacobs coached the junior tracksters in their season, during which they won one meet, tied for first in another, and placed second in three others.

Handlers of Racket and Ball

Showing strength in doubles events, the 1951 Viking tennis team was one of the best Puyallup has had in several years. Many of this year's mainstays had been playing varsity tennis for three years, with the result that coaching and experience began to pay off in victories. At the time of this writing, Coach Bob Vollen's netsters owned a 2 won, 2 lost record in league play, having whipped Clover Park and Auburn, and having lost to Highline and Lake Washington. Matches with White River and Kent-Meridian remained to be played.

The boys' doubles team—Clio Maass and Harold Hatch—was undefeated as of May 10, having triumphed in four straight league matches. Donna Shipley and David Hutchinson formed an effective mixed doubles combination, and Delores Sagmiller and Joan Erickson were strong in girls' doubles. Singles players were Ann Robbins, Barbara Williams, Carolyn Anderson, and Darrel Owen.

Baseball B Squad

Made up mainly of sophomores, the baseball B Squad had chalked up 4 wins, 1 tie, and 1 loss at the time the annual went to press.

The second-stringers played three games with Sumner, winning two, 4-1, and 6-2, and deadlocking the third with a 6-6 tie. Two games with Clover Park resulted in a victory for each team, with Clover Park winning the first contest, 2-1, and the Vik reserves bouncing back with a 9-6 triumph. Coach Carl Wasmund's baseballers added another win by shutting out Stadium, 4-0.

Activity On the Links

Undefeated in Puget Sound League play when the VIKING went to press May 10, Puyallup Viking golfers were shooting to equal their 1950 championship record. Mark Hipkins' divot-diggers beat Lake Washington, 9-6; blanked White River, 15-0; tied Clover Park, 7½-7½; and had matches with Kent-Meridian and Highline yet to be played.

This year's championship went to the team which amassed the greatest number of points during the season. Under this set-up a team might go undefeated, yet not finish in first place.

The Vikings this season boasted four members who shot consistently in the low 80's.

Team positions were determined by results of individual competition during practice at the Linden course. Regulars were Bob LaBrash, Richard McQuillin, Bob Stewart, Bob Tresch, and Marvin Lince, with Guy Robertson and Doug Sawyer serving as alternates.

Two Bits – Four Bits – Six Bits – A Dollar!

Leading the rooting section at all Viking football and basketball games and at the pep assemblies this year were the spark-plugs of P.H.S.—the yell leaders. Led by King Leonard Sienkiewich and Elaine Chipps, serving her second year as a queen, assisted by Duchesses Ruth Quinn and Betty Newcomb, the yell-staff exhibited vigorous display of energy.

At the practices which they held frequently, the yell leaders rehearsed their motions and timing as they developed a high degree of team coordination and precision. They also worked out new yells, some of which were submitted in a "new yell" contest. From these practices came the rhythmic motions and actions and vigorous acrobatics which aroused the old school spirit in P.H.S.'s students, and enabled them to show their enthusiasm in organized mass yells for the Viking teams.

Furnishing the rah-rah leadership for all junior high athletic events were the junior high yell leaders, Queen Sharon Kremer, King Philip Curry, and Duchess Betty Schakohl. These cheer-directors led the enthusiasm at all Baby Viking football and basketball games and pep assemblies.

On, Puyallup!

On, Puyallup!

Organized in answer to student body demand early in the year, the 1950-51 staff of Pepsters gave P.H.S. its first song-leaders in many years. Members of the new group were Pat Kibler, Norma Rees, Janet Ward, and Ramona Watkin.

Planning the pep assemblies this year was a newly organized group, the Pep Council. In previous years this planning responsibility had rested solely on the shoulders of the yell-leaders. Members of the Council were President Walt Ehnat, Vice President Jim Newton, Secretary Joan Erickson, Treasurer Virginia Doran, and the members of the yell staff and Pepsters.

If you happened to be at school by 7:30 on a Tuesday or Thursday morning this year, you would have seen 32 girls "stepping high" through the routines which they, as members of the P.H.S. Drill Team, were to perform between halves of many football and basketball games and pep assemblies. Members of the team were chosen from a large group of candidates by Miss Adah Sands, director, at the first of the year. Concluding the year's activities was the Drill Team's performance in the Daffodil Parade. Mrs. Doris Sherrill assisted Miss Sands.

G. A. A. Sponsors Active Program

Officers and Adviser: Mrs. Sherrill, Heil, Geise, Heinz, Robbins.

The G.A.A. season opened this year with the initiation of twelve new members. Upon arrival at the initiation the girls were painted up with lipstick, while molasses, flour, food coloring, and feathers were put in their hair.

Leadership for the school's "muscle maids" was provided this year by Betty Geise, president; Joanne Heinz, vice-president; Ann Robbins, secretary-treasurer; and Helen Heil, sports manager. Adviser for the group was Mrs. Doris Sherrill. This year the active members of G.A.A. undertook the rewriting of the constitution. G.A.A. pins and sweatshirts were ordered for the members who want them. The G.A.A. Girls' Letter Club is the new name selected for the organization to distinguish between the girls who have letters and those who do not.

First on this year's agenda was basketball which was made possible through early scheduling of the sport; thus it did not interfere with boys' basketball turnouts. Volleyball followed shortly after the end of the basketball season. Also at this time a tumbling team was organized under the supervision of Mrs. Joan Kern. Ping pong and tumbling began shortly after Christmas. Practice games were played and the tournament began about the middle of the season. Softball, badminton, and tennis completed the sports turnouts for this year.

Highlighting the girls' sports season was a playday which was held in the high school gym in early October for schools in the Puget Sound League. Dancing and games provided entertainment. An autumn theme was used in the decorations and table setting. On April 29 the girls as a group went on a bike ride to Point Defiance. The social activities of the season were completed with a picnic and installation of new officers.

The necessary requirements for a girl who wishes to become a G.A.A. member are 550 points. The girls can earn points by turning out for any of the six major sports, by going on bike rides, hikes, making honor teams, ,refereeing at games, and by participating in other outside activities.

Beatrice Hansen.

They Lead the Class

Completing her senior high studies in only two years, Ruth Neeley still achieved the honor of becoming valedictorian of the Class of 1951, with a grade point average of 97.21. In order to finish a year ahead of time, Ruth attended summer school and also took correspondence courses at Washington State College, which awarded her a $200 music scholarship.

She was active in Torch Tri Hi-Y and Latineers, sang in the Choir, occasionally accompanied the Chorus, and was active in VIKING VARIETIES. Considered one of the most talented pianists in this area, Ruth plans to continue in her music studies.

Attaining the second rung on the scholastic ladder was Bea Hansen, salutatorian, with a grade point average of 96.67. Bea majored in commercial subjects and foreign languages, and minored in mathematics and home economics. She was active in Amica Tri Hi-Y and sang in the A Capella Choir. She also served as accompanist for the Senior High Chorus.

During the past year Bea successfully continued her high scholastic record even though being employed as a secretary each afternoon. She plans to further pursue a secretarial career in the future.

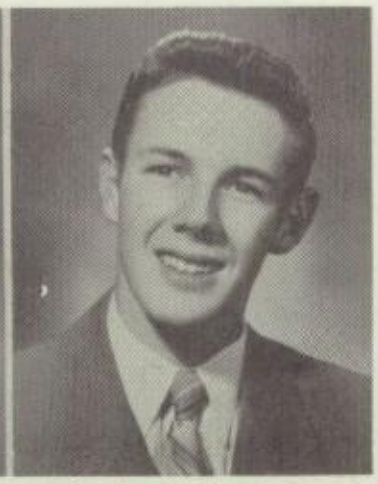
They Win Honors

Nancy Turman



Kenneth Erickson

WALKER AWARD

Nancy Turman and Ken Erickson, student body vice president and president, respectively, were selected by the faculty to have their names inscribed on the Walker Cup as winners of the Walker Award for 1951. Nancy also received a $400 scholarship to Pacific Lutheran College, and Ken has won the right to go to college under the Naval Reserve Officer's Training Corps program.

Walker Award alternates were Jeanne Peterson and Warren Miller, and honorable mention went to Shirley Young and Bob Crabb. Endowed by E. M. Case, the Walker Award is in memory of E. B. Walker, former Puyallup school superintendent. Qualifications on which selections are based are: scholarship—40%, character—20%, citizenship—20%, and personality—20%.

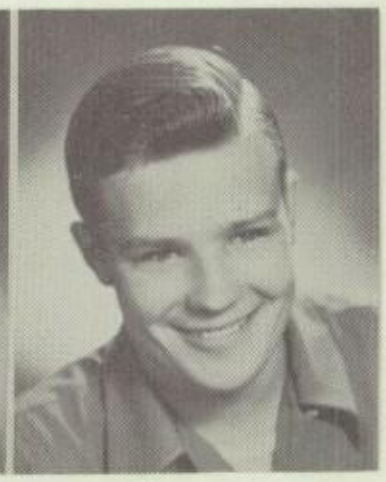
Geneal Burzlaff

Warren Miller

Mary Anne Griffin

Richard McQuillin

Ellen Breakey



Vernon Gill

JUNIOR HIGH AWARD

Ellen Breakey and Vernon Gill were top choices of the junior high faculty to receive the Junior High Award for 1951. The two winners had their names engraved on the Honor Cup, presented by the Class of 1925, and received ten dollars each from the Puyallup Kiwanis Club.

Alternates for the award were Beverly Sale and Alan Manning, and receiving honorable mention were Pat Schwartze and Charles Breitsprecher. Winning the junior high award is the highest honor a ninth-grader can receive. To be considered, a student must have attended Puyallup Junior High School for all three years. Qualifications for the award are: scholarship—40%, character—20%, citizenship—20%, and personality—20%.

RANSOM-DELANO AWARD

Geneal Burzlaff and Warren Miller were selected by the members of the Senior High Band and Orchestra to have their names inscribed as winners of the Ransom-Delano Music Inspiration Trophy. The award was established four years ago in memory of Betty Ransom, a band member who died during the year, and in honor of Elwin Delano, who contracted infantile paralysis.

Selection of the senior boy and girl is made by band and orchestra members on a basis of outstanding service and inspiration.

Both Geneal and Warren received $200 Washington State College music scholarships.

ART AWARD

Mary Anne Griffin was selected to receive the Junior Women's Club Art Award for 1951. Her name will be inscribed on the Art Award cup. Lynn Williams, a junior, was given honorable mention. The award is presented to a student who has shown all-around interest as well as competence in the field of art work.

SCIENCE AWARD

Richard McQuillin was named as winner of the Bausch and Lomb Honorary Science Award. The award is presented annually to the science student who is considered to have been outstanding in science studies during his high school years. Richard received a plaque of recognition from the Bausch and Lomb Company.

They Win Honors

Harriet Cook

Ralph Wetzel

KARSHNER AWARD

Harriet Cook and Bud Wetzel were selected as 1951 winners of the Karshner Award. The award was given by Dr. and Mrs. Warner M. Karshner in memory of their son Paul, who died of a sudden illness in his senior year. The winners each receive a $200 scholarship to the University of Washington, in addition to having their names inscribed on the trophy.

Alternates for the award were Gail Beauchamp and Marvin Anderson, and honorable mention went to Shirley Bell and Don Kitts. The award was revived last year after a lapse of several years. Qualifications are: scholarship—50%, character—20%, leadership—15%, self-support—15%.

GIRLS' INSPIRATIONAL AWARD

Jeanne Peterson was selected by the girls of the senior high as the girl who has been the greatest inspiration to them. Jeanne, who served as Girls' Club president during the past year, will have her name engraved on a gold plaque, which replaces the inspiration cup, which is filled with names.

CARPENTERS' UNION SCHOLARSHIP

David Johnson was selected as the first recipient of a new $400 scholarship award, presented by the Carpenters' Union, No. 470, of Tacoma. In addition to the $400 in cash, to be used at any college in the United States, David will be assured of a job during the summer of each year he attends college. This new scholarship will become one of the annual awards. Alternate was Steve Swantz and honorable mention went to Don Kitts.

Considered in selection were scholarship, good citizenship, financial need, and popularity.

Y.M.C.A. SCHOLARSHIPS

Shirley Bell and Walt Ehnat were winners of the $75 Y.M.C.A. college scholarships, sponsored by the Rec Board. Selection was made on the basis of leadership, scholarship, self-support, character, and participation in Y activities.

Alternates were Norma Snider and Pat Boyle, and honorable mention went to Shirley Young and Jim Newton.

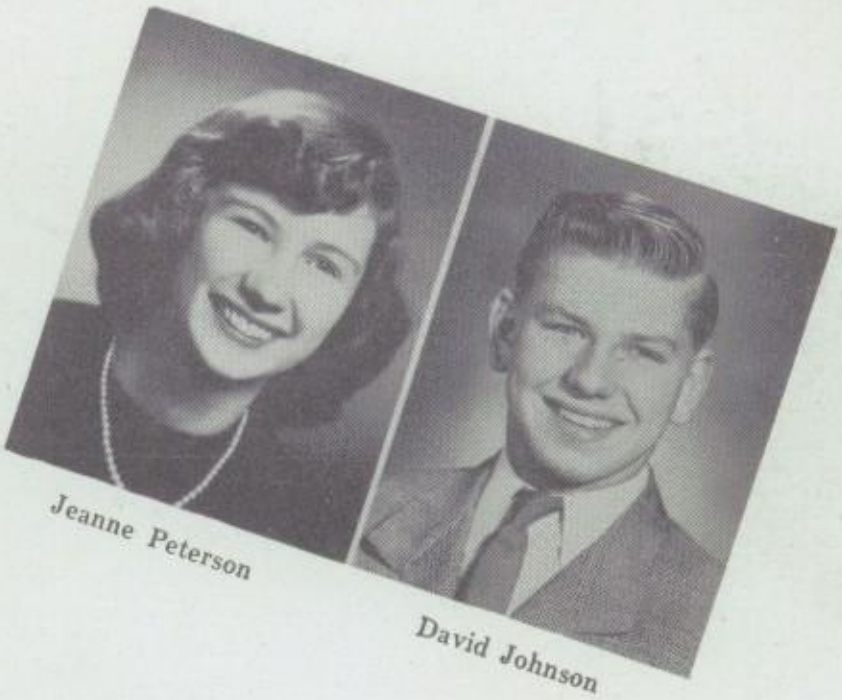
Helen Heil

Tim Reyes

LOGAN AWARD

Helen Heil and Tim Reyes were announced 1951 winners of the Robert O. Logan Scholarship-Athletic Award. Their names have been engraved on the "Gloria" trophy. Alternates were Joyce Sundberg and Joel Heimbigner, and Betty Geise and Ron Snow were given honorable mention. This is the only award giving recognition to students excelling in both athletic and scholastic endeavors. To qualify, a student must be high scholastically. Boys must have earned a letter in a major sport. Girls must have earned a G.A.A. letter.

In making the selection of the winner personal qualifications considered are: scholarship—50%, sportsmanship—20%, character—20%, and citizenship—10%.



Jeanne Peterson

David Johnson

Shirley Bell

Walter Ehnat

Frank Lancaster, Joe Mahaffie, Melvin Piatote, Joyce Sundberg, Helen Heil, Stanley Floyd, Shirley Young, Marvin Anderson, Floy Casteel.

GOLD AND SILVER VICTORY AWARDS

Only Gold Victory Award given this year was to Joyce Sundberg, who accumulated at least 2400 points in G.A.A. activities. Helen Heil received a Girls' Silver Victory Award for piling up a minimum of 2100 points. Frank Lancaster, Joe Mahaffie, and Mel Piatote each received Boys' Silver Victory Awards, Frank for having won seven major sports letters, and Joe and Mel for six major letters.

ART WINNER

After winning a key award in the State Scholastic Art Awards contest for his oil painting, Stanley Floyd won a $25 cash award in the national contest. Only thirty students in the nation achieved this top rating in oils.

P.-T.A. SCHOLARSHIPS

Shirley Young and Marvin Anderson won the 1951 P.-T.A. Scholarships. Each scholarship is worth $50, and is awarded annually to students who are planning to be teachers. The Puyallup P.-T.A. Council makes the selections.

ALTRUSA AWARD

Winner of the 1951 Altrusa Club Award was Floy Casteel. She received a $25 cash prize and had her name placed on the Altrusa trophy. Dorean Helle was selected as alternate for the annual award, sponsored by the Puyallup Altrusa women. Included in the points considered by the committee in making the selection were training and work experience, personality, character, and citizenship.

Honor Society

Honor Society activities this year started off with an exchange assembly with Clover Park High School. Students from that school presented a program at a regular senior high assembly in Puyallup. A local group later went to Clover Park.

To become a member of Honor Society, a student must have a B average and is also required to participate in two extra-curricular activities. Again this year pins were ordered for the members.

Officers who led the group the past year were David Johnson, president; Audrey Rentsch, vice president; Joan Erickson, secretary; and Gloria Andersen, treasurer. Miss Helen Alexander served as adviser.

First Row: Young, A. Decker, D. Decker, E. Watkin, Salonisen, Arthur, Griffin, Andrus, R. Watkin, Lewtas. Second Row: Rentsch, J. Williams, J. In Conclusion

On the 136 pages lying between the maroon and white covers of this book, we, your 1951 Viking staff, have combined words and pictures in an effort to present a lasting record of all the various phases of school life and activities which were yours during the past year.

Unlike most other things, annuals become more treasured and interesting with age. Many incidents and personalities which play such a large part in our lives during a certain year fade from our memories soon, and it is then that we leaf through our old yearbooks to remember that history teacher's name or to see if a rising young politician really was the boy who sat next to us in study hall.

Many factors go into the making of a yearbook, and without any one of them annual production would be impossible.

Our thanks go to the local firms for their advertising patronage, to the various studios for the senior portraits, to the S. K. Smith Company for the covers, to The Puyallup Valley Tribune for printing and binding, to Miss Gladys Sorenson, art adviser, and, most of all, to Miss Palma Larson, annual adviser, whose conscientious efforts and journalistic abilities are a most vital asset to each year's annual.

Dear Cathy,
I've been a lot of fun this year and I hope we have lots more this summer. Don't forget to write this summer and have a good time. I hope some of my classes are over soon. I had a lot of fun with you this year.
Love,
Cathy Callaman
